

Special Achievement Award Winners

2009

Cooper Medical School at Rowan University for the formation of a new, four-year allopathic medical school in Camden, NJ. The first in southern New Jersey, the Cooper Medical School of Rowan University will bring tremendous healthcare, academic, and economic benefits to the region. Accepting the award were Dr. Donald Farish, President of Rowan University, and Dr. Annette Reboli, Acting Dean of the Cooper Medical School.

2008

New Jersey Institute of Technology for developing the Master of Science in Healthcare Systems Management. This is an innovative, educational program, which provides technology expertise for the efficient operation of healthcare facilities. Accepting the award on behalf of NJIT was Professor Sanchoy Daf, Director of the MS in Healthcare Systems Management Program

2007

Fred M. Jacobs, MD JD. Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services, for his lifetime of work to improve public health in the state of New Jersey.

2006

George Lynn, President of AtlantiCare Health System, for his lifetime of improving healthcare.

2005

Jim Goss, VP, and the Public Relations and Marketing team at CentraState Healthcare System in Freehold, NJ, for demonstrating a commitment to innovative marketing.
-AND Clare Sapienza-Eck, VP of Planning and Government Relations at South Jersey Healthcare, for successfully opening a new medical center in Cumberland County and completing its first full year of operations.

2004

Sally Roslow and Ron Czajkowski, New Jersey Hospital Association, for their work in developing an implementing a plan for HPMSNJ to serve former NJHCPRMA members. Continuing Education Department of the New Jersey Hospital Association/HRET represented by Rita Pruzan, Director, along with Cecilia Boyce and Daisy Siminoff, Educational Services Assistants. Given for outstanding contributions to the health care field through annual education programs reaching thousands of health care professionals and their long-standing collaboration with HPMSNJ.